

The Lower Hudson Special Education Task Force is proud to present Student Self-Advocacy: Success Stories

Self-advocacy and self-direction are essential for young adults with disabilities.
Our panel will explore ways we can work together to help students:

- become self-advocates,
- meaningfully participate in their CSE meetings,
- maximize their independence and
- make a smooth transition to life after high school.

Panel participants will include:

Naomi Brickel, Director, Hudson Valley Special Education Parent Center
Laurie Levine, Regional Special Education Training Specialist, RSE-TASC
Janine and Shana Belfast, Parent and Student
