

The Lower Hudson Special Education Task Force and

present:

BREAKFAST

Join us to learn about NAMI's programs and new school requirements on mental health. New York is the first state to require schools to incorporate mental health education into the curriculum. Requirements take effect July 1, 2018.

June 20, 2018 at 10 am

Law Offices of Littman Krooks LLP

399 Knollwood Road-Suite 115, White Plains NY

NAMI Westchester, Inc. is a self-help and support organization dedicated to improving the lives of people living with a mental health condition and their families through support, education and advocacy.

Breakfast & Learn will focus on mental health and suicide prevention and will feature a presentation by an individual living in recovery.

The Lower Hudson Special Education Task force is committed to improving educational access and outcomes for students with disabilities through a collaborative network of stakeholders with a variety of perspectives.

RSVP to Nicole Garcia at 914.684.2100 or ngarcia@littmankrooks.com

Sponsored by: NAMI Westchester www.namiwestchester.org
The Lower Hudson Special Education Task Force

